

Team Tech-N-Effect is moving forward with our project! We held our weekly Monday evening meeting via Collaborate and fine-tuned the content areas that each of us are responsible to research and create the content that will be included in our final project for U of A DDS. Cindy was able to get additional information and clarification from Steve, so all is going well.

We will be continuing to hold our Monday evening meetings, and will be meeting in person in the near future as well. During the week we communicate via e-mail to check in and share content/ideas. It is amazing how we have been able to develop a group relationship using technology, and we are looking forward to our in-person meeting.
